

Ian Higginbottom

Organisational and Leadership Coach, Facilitator

Ian Higginbottom is professional Ontological Coach and a PCC credentialed coach with the International Coach Federation (ICF). He works with leaders and managers in public sector organisations, Not-For-Profits and corporations. He helps them grow as leaders who can empower high-performing teams that deliver extraordinary results and build cultures in which people thrive.

Ian provides the following services:

- One-on-one coaching
- Leadership development programs
- Design and facilitation of custom workshops

Ian helps leaders learn to become the kind of leader that can deliver the level of results they aspire to deliver. He breaks leadership conversations down into pragmatic components that can be observed, learned and practiced.

Prior to working as a coach and facilitator, Ian led a scientific software company from start-up to venture capital partnership with 60 staff.
